Web Developer Internship Application

May 7, 2025

Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to express my interest in the Web Developer Internship position at Umain. As a front-end developer with experience in modern web technologies, I'm excited by your "Shape, Ship, Scale" approach and the opportunity to contribute to innovative projects.

My journey in web development began with self-directed learning, which has evolved into creating responsive, user-friendly websites for various organizations. I've worked with React.js, JavaScript, HTML5, and CSS3/Tailwind to build multilingual platforms and resource sites. My recent projects include developing a church website with i18n support and an e-commerce platform, both requiring thoughtful user experience design and responsive implementation.

What particularly attracts me to Umain is your commitment to mentorship and collaborative learning. I believe my combination of technical skills and theology background gives me a unique perspective on human-centered design - understanding not just how to build interfaces, but why they matter to the people using them.

I'm eager to learn modern frameworks like NextJS and Svelte while contributing my existing knowledge to your team. As someone who values both technical excellence and meaningful work, I'm excited by the prospect of solving real problems alongside experienced professionals in your multidisciplinary environment.

I appreciate your consideration and would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my skills and enthusiasm could benefit Umain's innovative projects.

Sincerely,

Felix Cobbinah  github.com/codeDevFC
